Comp-based tests to make comeback

New Delhi: The Common University Entrance Test is set for changes in 2025, with the University Grants Com-mission (UGC) preparing to announce a shift back to com-puter-based fest mode, a stan-dardised 60-minute duration for all napers, requirement for all papers, requirement for candidates to attempt all questions, and a reduction all questions, and a reduction in foreign language papers.

These revisions, aimed at enhancing efficiency and credibility of the test, have enhancing efficiency and credibility of the test, have been finalised in consultation with National Testing Agency (NTA)—the delivery partner for CUET-UG and CUET-PG.
At present, the 105-minute CUET-PG paper comprises 75 questions from various subjects, including 12 foreign languages, CUET-UG papers vary in duration, with domain and language appers lasting 45 minutes and the general test 60 minutes. Conducted in hybrid mode for the first time in 2024, the UG test offered computer-based test (CBT) mode in 43 subjects and pen and paper mode in 15. "These proposed changes will unify the testing process and eliminate the log 2022 to streamline university admissions across India, but its implementation has been fraught with challenges. The naugural year witnessed logistical failures, including abrupt changes of exam centrer, technical glitches, and widespread cancellations, which delayed announcement of results until Sept.
Score normalisation across multiple shifts added to dissatisfaction. "The first CUET exposed glaring gaps in our preparedness to mange a high-stakes national-abrupt cancellations in Delhi due to logistical issues, drawing widesproad criticism. "Past incidents necessitated changes and improvement," noted a senior official from the education ministry To address these concerns, the UGC constituted an expert committee to review the test structure, syllabus alignment, and operational logistics. "The committee's recommendations were commendations where the committee's recommendations were a recent UGC meeting." said a source in the NTA. The UGC is expected to release a draft proposal inviting feedback from stakeholders, including students, parents, and educators soon, With 283 universities adopting CUET in 2024 and over 13.47 lakh registrations, its importance as a unified admission gateway remains undisputed.

The chical issues persisted, and in 2024, the NEEP-UG paper leak allegations further cleayed CUET results. The first hybrid-mode test faced abrupt cancellations in Pehli due to logistical issues, drawing widesproad criticism.
